DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

Claims 6, 18, and 27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Ishida, et al.

FIG. 1

In figures 1 and 3, the cited patent shows an elongated catheter body, an expandable member attached to a distal end of the catheter body; and opaque markers positioned on the expandable member.

Additionally, in column 4, line 19, the specification states: "the material of the balloon (5) may be mixed with X-ray opaque substance such as platinum, gold or the like which constitutes a marker".

FIG. 11

Moreover, in column 6, line 55, referring to figure 11, the specification states: "the distal portion (24c) of the balloon (24) may be made solid, and a belt-type marker (24d) made of x-ray opaque substance as described above may be fixed to or embedded in the outer peripheral surface portion (24c)". Finally, based on the teachings of Ishida, et al., the limitations stated in the independent claims of this application are anticipated.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 7-9, 12-17, 19-21, 24-26, and 28-42 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ishida, et al. in view of Becker, et al. The Ishida, et al. Patent does to expressly disclose the use of ink as a marker on the balloon. However,

Art Unit: 3763

Ishida, et al. teaches that the material of the balloon (5) may be mixed with other substances that constitute markers.

The Becker, et al, Patent shows in figure 3 (above), that it is conventional to use ink as makers (50,52,54) in the outer wall of a catheter. Accordingly, it would have been obvious for a person of ordinary skill in the art to modify the structure of Ishida, et al., and use ink as a marker in the outer surface of the balloon. This enhancement would have been considered an obvious design alternative.

Conclusion

In view of the new grounds for rejection, this action is not final.
